Revised Homecoming Plans Shift Dance To Fieldhouse

by Greg Mahoney

To provide accommodations for more couples, the site of the Homecoming dance has been switched from the Rec hall to the fieldhouse. The demand for more tickets, other than those previously allotted, because of the limited capacity of the Rec hall, made the change necessary. The unlimited ticket sale is expected to bring the number of couples attending to more than 300.

Rec. Hall for Relaxing

The dancing area, under the new set up, will be restricted to the Intramural court at the west end of the fieldhouse. Both the Homecoming dance and the Revels afterwards will be held there.

Tables and chairs, where the couples can sit out a dance or be served, will be set up in the Rec hall. To connect the dance floor with the Rec hall a canvas passageway will be erected leading from the southwest door of the fieldhouse to the terrace of the Rec hall.

Davis Combo at Revels

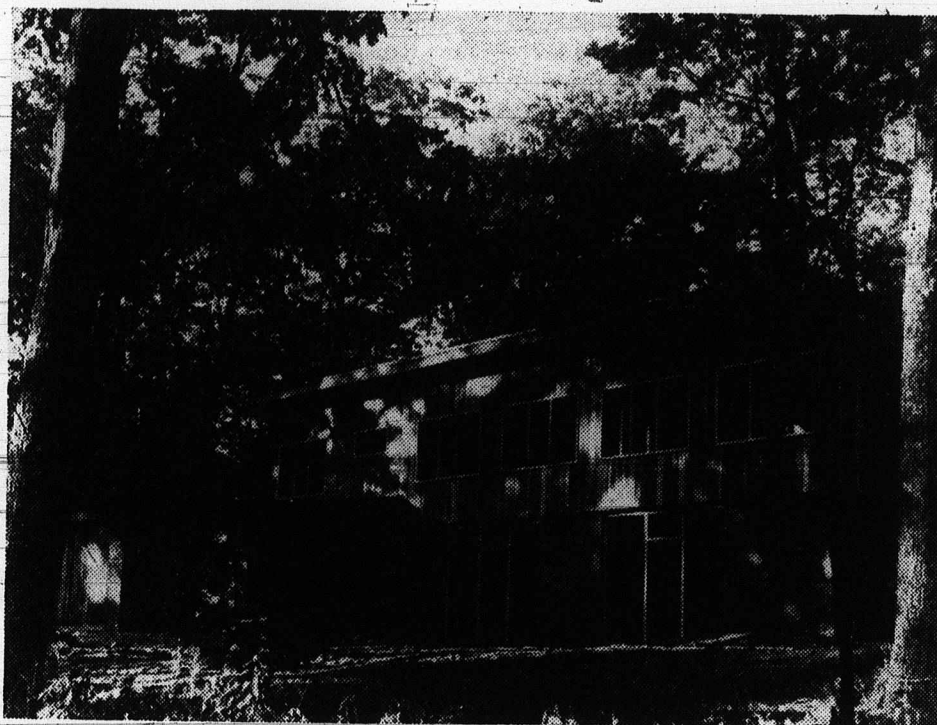

Drinking at the Revels following the dance will be restricted to the Rec hall.

Clifford Davis and his jazz combo will be featured at the Revels. The Davis combo appeared at last year's Chicago club dance and it was on the basis of their popularity at this dance that they were chosen for the Revels. They have also appeared at numerous nightclub spots in and around Chicago.

New Time Schedule

Under the revised plans the dance, which was originally scheduled to start at 9:30 p.m. will now start an hour earlier and close at midnight. A half hour interval to allow the bands to change will then follow. The Revels Dance will then start about 12:30 and will last until 3:00 a.m.

There has also been a change in the selection of the Homecoming Queen. Entries for the Homecoming Queen closed last Saturday. The students who entered their dates in the contest enclosed a snapshot of the girl, the girl's name, and their own name and campus address in a sealed envelope and placed it in a special entry box in the cafeteria. A special committee headed by Maurice O'Connor, sophomore class president will select the Queen and her court.

Dr. Barton's house, shown above, is one of the three faculty residences that will be ready for occupancy in December.

To Give Annual Awards

As was the case last year, the Student Council will award a plaque to the residence hall exhibiting the best Homecoming display. Last year's winner was Merlini hall.

Another award will be presented to the outstanding Puma grid performer in the Homecoming game against Valparaiso. Ray Banary received the award in 1956.

6 SJ Students Win Magnavox Awards

The Magnavox Company of Fort Wayne has awarded $1000 in scholarship funds to six students of St. Joseph college.

The students who won the annual Magnavox awards are: John Cracker and Charles Donnelly, $100 each; Richard Koch, Donald Todd, Henry Stukenborg, Ronald Tovsen, $200 each. There were 15 applicants for the awards.

The requirements for the Magnavox award are three. Firstly, the student must be a junior or senior. Secondly, he must be a major in engineering or a business course. Thirdly, financial need must be a factor.

A special Magnavox grant of $450 was awarded to Bernard Bishop, a sophomore in pre-engineering from Joliet, Ill.

SJ "Singing 17" Opens 4th Year

"The Singing Seventeen" under the direction of Mr. Bernard E. Qubeck will commence its fourth season of musical activity by giving a concert at St. Augustine's church in Rensselaer on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 8:00 p.m. The performance is being sponsored by the Rensselaer Business and Professional Women's association.

This year's contingent of "The Singing Seventeen" is composed of 15 glee club veterans and two novices. The first tenors are: Frank Rastigue, Joe Matlon, Ray Edwards, and Bernard Pepping. Robert Courtney, Tom Lewis, Don Regan, Tim Sullivan, and Willie Walters comprise the second tenors.

In the baritone department are: Jim Deegan, Charles Juric, Ed Knight, and Terry O'Hagan. The bass section consists of: Joe Quartuch, John Tobin, Urban Thobe, and Kevin Downey.

Among the selections which the group will give at this affair are a medley from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma", "Make Believe," from "Showboat", and piano improvisations by Joe Matlon.

Three solos are scheduled on the program: Terry O'Hagan will sing "Mighty Lak a Rose", Tom Lewis will render a Negro spiritual, "Joshua Fit de Battle ob Jericho", and Jack Tobin will do an old favorite "Little Liza Jane."

Bishop Carberry To Say Mass, Bless New Faculty Residences

by Ed McGee

The new lay faculty community on the southern edge of St. Joseph's college campus will be dedicated Sunday, November 17, approximately three weeks before the first professors are scheduled to move in.

The site, a wooded area of 25 acres about a half-mile south of the campus, and the first three nearly-completed homes will be blessed by the Most Rev. John J. Carberry, Auxiliary Bishop of the Diocese of Lafayette-in-Indiana. A Solemn High Mass will precede the ceremony and a dinner will follow in the college cafeteria.

Foundation Grants Helpful

The homes, begun last spring, are being financed by the college through part of the $270,000 grant from the Ford Foundation. Under the stipulations set up by the Foundation, the principal must be invested at the rate of at least four percent interest, with the interest to be used only to increase faculty salaries. (After 10 years, however, the principal may be applied to other needs.)

Schedule Dates Of Interviews For Placement

Mr. Richard F. Scharf, Director of Placement, recently announced the dates of various employment examinations and interviews.

Business administration, economics, history and language majors will probably be interested in the Foreign Service Officer examinations to be given on Dec. 9, 1957. If the candidate is accepted, he will be assigned to one of the 275 embassies, legations, and consulates around the world.

Teachers Interview

The Army Audit Agency interview is scheduled for Nov. 14, 1957. This should be of particular interest to accounting majors.

For education majors, teacher placement interviews for the Los Angeles City school systems have been set for Nov. 15, 16, 17, and 18 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, Ill.

Information In Room 110

Positions for a Camp director and counselors are also available.

Further information on these and other job opportunities may be had by contacting Mr. Scharf in Room 110 of the Administration building.

Profs Map Mine Area

Frs. Donald Ballmann and Carl Nieset, C.P.P.S., geology professors, recently completed a 200-square-mile geological mapping expedition for the New Mexico Bureau of Mines.

Under the bureau's supervision, the two-man exploration team spent the summer exploring the area between Silver City and Lordsburg, N. M. According to the priests, the area has never before been mapped so extensively.

Publish Findings

The project was established so that the mineral development prospects of the region could be determined. Full details of the project will not be released until the bureau features the information in a future publication.

Both men had done extensive exploration of the region before; Fr. Nieset had gone to Silver City as early as 1950 and Fr. Ballmann traveled to the area in 1954.

Reconvene Summer Class

According to Fr. Nieset, a permanent geology summer class has been set up in Grant County and will begin next year. The class is comprised mostly of St. Joseph's students, although it also includes students from various other schools in several different states.

The class convened during the summer of 1956, but was cancelled this past summer because of the work being done by the two professors.

Each teacher participating in the plan receives a 99-year lease on his plot and will pay $10 per year for the use of the land. Also, a down payment of only two percent was established. This figure was adopted on the idea that the teacher is usually unable to meet a large down payment. He would now be able to afford reasonable monthly installments under the revised salary scale.

Fischer Project Architect

The College is lending the home-builders up to 98 percent of the total cost, or a maximum of $25,000, whichever is less. The teacher has up to 30 years to pay off the mortgage. The homes will range in cost from approximately $14,000 to $27,000. The 25-acre plot has been laid out, and the homes designed, by Frank Fischer, A.I.A., Rensselaer architect whose home office is in Chicago.

The three faculty members who will move into their new homes in December are Dr. Jay Barton II, associate professor of biology; Mr. Bernard Qubeck, instructor in music; and Mr. Richard Scharf, associate professor of physical education. Two more families have already entered the association and their homes are scheduled to get underway this fall.

Community Association

Before the homes were begun, the three initial members formed a corporation known as the College Community Foundation, with Dr. Barton as president. This group has the responsibility of formulating regulations necessary for the welfare of the community, and to oversee the general development of the area. This includes clearing and surveying, and the availability of roads, electricity, and a sewer. Each home will include its own septic tank and well. The development costs will total approximately $650 per site.

In the event of the departure of a resident, the college has the option to purchase the home from the faculty member at a price fair to both parties. This price will be negotiated by an independent committee composed of a representative of the Association, the College, and a businessman from Rensselaer. This plan, among other things, is intended to provide assurance that the area will remain a community of faculty members.

The Barton, Scharf, and Qubeck families, pictured above, will soon set up housekeeping in the new faculty residences.

Here's to Homecoming '57

Homecoming—1957 edition—is this Saturday Oct. 26. Alumni returning to renew acquaintances and talk over the “good old days,” and students cheering for victory on the gridiron and whooping it up at the Homecoming dance and the Revels typify a homecoming celebration. Yes, this is Homecoming, a day of autumnal merriment.

This year as every year the returning Alumni will marvel at the changes on the campus. The new look in the cafeteria, the expanded Rec hall, and the over-all progress in a year's time will no doubt catch the grad's eye and cause him to wish perhaps that he were a student again.

The 1957 Homecoming takes on an added significance for all. The featured football game is the “do or die” classic of the season for the Puma gridsters, none other than the Valpo game. This arch rivalry is as hot and bitter as a tamale saturated with vinegar.

Valpo's out for blood this year, even though some of their players have been smitten by the flu bug. Losing a Homecoming game isn't forgotten overnight and Valpo certainly hasn't forgotten last year's St. Joe victory which spoiled the Crusader homecoming.

Let's send the Crusaders home winless so that their precious ding-dong bell cannot ring out victory.

Yes sir, this is Homecoming 1957. The St. Joe football ensemble will supply the winning action; the Russ Carlyle and the Clifford Davis ensembles will supply the musical background celebrating the 1957 Homecoming victory. Alumni and students will supply the oral expression of St. Joe spirit or as Willie Walters would call it “a bombastic blast from Collegeville to all points north, south, east, and west.”

Preparations are swinging into high gear and it looks like another typically Puma Homecoming, full of fun-filled festivities, frantic frolic, and fighting, feuding football.

Well, kiddies, we're back again. Slightly improved, we hope. We've tried anyway. Thanks to all of you who offered suggestions, and to all of you who brought in the news, the sophomores especially. I have yet to hear of anyone else. How about the rest of you guys getting on the ball and handing in some news. We spend a lot of time in the Rec hall, and we've got a room in Siefert, 151 W. to be more exact. Wanna read something about yourself in the paper, or better yet, wanna read something about one of your buddies? Tell us about it.

Caution, Fire Bug!

St. Joe seems to abound with criminals of one sort or another. Last time we had a siren stealer, and this time we have a fire bug. Reese O'Connor, soph prexy, went into his room the other night to find his waste basket ablaze. Interesting sight, eh? Everything came out alright though, and Reese's room now has something new added—a Fire Prevention poster.

“I Ran Into A Door”

Anyone else notice the predominance of black eyes among the members of the freshman class? Are you guys fighting among yourselves already, or is it merely a seasonal disease?

... Even puppy love can lead to a dog's life ...

Fool so feelish, I don't know why.
Really don't know who's me yet,
The drunker I stay, the longer I get.
So just one more drink will fill my cup.

The Roommate

What Do You Think?

by Dick Vomish

Recently the news of the Russian Satellite has filled many of our headlines in newspapers throughout the world. After the release of this device much criticism was placed at the feet of the scientists and other people working behind the construction of our own earth satellite. Do you think that the U.S. is really losing the nuclear race or just trying to be cautious?

Ron Guertin, junior, Kankakee, Ill.

It seems to me that we are definitely behind in the arms race, at least in the missile and satellite field. The fact that the Russians have a satellite circling the earth while our satellite project lags behind proves this.

Jay Hyde, junior, Indianapolis, Ind.

Maybe all the news the Russian satellite is making will produce a good end. This might be the cause for the American people to quit shrugging their shoulders and to actually accept the Russian as top competitor for world power.

Although much criticism has been heaped on the scientists, I feel the real blame falls on the government.

As far as the nuclear race is concerned, I do believe the United States is behind Russia. But rocket power is probably the only phase of nuclear science in which we lag. Several of the country's leading sci-entist's have stated it was possible to send a satellite into space three years ago. Evidently the holdup was other than scientific knowledge and ability.

Bud Dowling, junior, Hammond, Ind.

Just because Russia launched her satellite before the U.S. I do not think that this necessarily means we are behind in nuclear power. However, I do not believe that we are just being cautious. True, Russia has launched her satellite months before we can launch ours, but we must realize that we could have launched ours months ago.

It is predicted that the Russian satellite will remain in the heavens only about a year and maybe even less. With the information we have learned about the Russian satellite, its fault and advantages, plus the intensive research that has gone into the U.S. satellite, we can be pretty sure that ours will remain in the heavens long after the Russian satellite has disappeared from view.

During the past weeks the papers have been filled with articles on the Russian satellite. Most of them very critical of our government and scientists.

I believe the United States is being cautious at this time and that Russia is not ahead of us in the nuclear race. If our scientists would have thought that having a satellite in the sky was a matter of survival, no doubt we would have had one up last year. But they thought there was no necessity for speed.

It is true that we have underestimated Russia's potentialities and through the pressure put on by Sputnik, our scientists will continue to protect our lead in the nuclear race.

Reviews at Random

Edwin O'Connor's recent bestselling novel, The Last Hurrah, concerns a crooked but lovable politician, Frank Skeffington, who is Democrat, Irish, and Catholic, an ex-governor, and perennial mayor of a large Eastern city.

To James Michael Curley, who is Democrat, Irish, and Catholic, an ex-governor, and perennial mayor of Boston, the resemblance between Skeffington and any living character was more than purely coincidental. In fact, Curley had a libel suit pending until he found that the novel actually had a sympathetic effect. But just to set the record straight, Curley has penned his autobiography, I'd Do It Again.

Curley at 83 is still very much alive and able to review his 57 years in politics with all the gusto and authority of “the last of the old-time, big-city, paternalistic bosses.”

In the aristocratic Boston of Curley's childhood Irish immigrants were confronted by signs which read “Irish Need Not Apply.” The vote was their best weapon against economic subservience, and by 1900, when the 26 year old Curley won his first political battle, he had based his career as champion of the underdog.

Elections in those days were characterized by gigantic rallies, often “gang fights in which the guided missiles were sticks, stones, bricks, and brass spittoons.” Political clubs had shindigs which gave prizes to the prettiest colleen and the homeliest man. And behind it all was the ward boss who could promise a candidate a certain number of votes and deliver them with a margin of error of not more than thirty.

Curley, armed with a silver tongue to enthrall audiences and a vicious uppercut to dispatch hecklers, won elections for state representative, alderman, city council, congressman, mayor, and governor.

Curley's campaigns were unique. He won one election from behind bars after he had been caught taking a civil service exam for a friend. This “sabbatical in the bastille” he used as a symbol of his concern for the worker. In 1932 he crashed the Democratic National Convention as “Alcade Jaime Miguel Curleo,” delegate from Puerto Rico.

Curley also practiced the unwritten rule of politics, “Do others, or they will do you,” with a fascinating abandon. Once he had one group of supporters, dressed as Baptist ministers, urging Catholics to vote for his opponent, and another group, dressed as priests, doing the same in Protestant homes.

Two years ago, the 81 year old Curley failed in his third attempt for a fifth term as mayor, the victim of age and passing of an age. Still undaunted, he plans to live to 125, just to bury his remaining enemies. To them Curley says: “A Great Dane always has a few poodles yapping at his heels.”

Dear Editor . . .

Dear Editor,

St. Joe students expressed their opinion (Stuff, Sept. 27) about Americans who defied the State Department to visit Red China.

From my 10-week hitch-hiking trek through Europe this past summer I learned a number of interesting things.

Whatever propaganda we deprived the Russians of, we injured our own prestige among thousands of Russian youths. Communist youths cannot understand why there are no Americans to take part in exchange workshops and other international activities. Those Americans who do take part are considered as heroic individuals defying the restrictions of a tyrannical capitalist government.

By not attending conferences we lose an opportunity to propagandize among future Communist leaders who are highly interested in Western life.

In Moscow Russian youths insisted that Americans “rock and roll” for them. Lenin-grad students told one American that they were above most Russians, because they were “cultured” i.e. they spoke French and went to church weekly.

In Yugoslavia a Bulgarian girl told me that she considers U.S. movies rather low culturally. In Sweden a friend amazed two touring Polish students by informing them that the U.S. had not started the Korean war.

There is probably no danger that such visits would sway an American to Communism. The Festival visitors said that extremists for and against Russian Communism had approached a more moderate view by the end of the conferences.

Sincerely,
Urban Thobe

SJ Defense Stifles St. Vincent's 28-7

by Tom Mahoney

St. Joe's Pumas ground out a 28-7 victory over previously undefeated St. Vincent's college in a non-conference tilt at Latrobe, Pa., on Sunday Oct. 13.

Keith Fingerhut and Les Klein led the Puma attack as they romped for 126 and 116 yards respectively.

3 Puma Interceptions

The hard-charging St. Joe forward wall forced the Bearcats to settle for a net total of -2 yards rushing for the afternoon. In all, St. Vincent's was limited to a total of 99 yards for the game.

The only Bearcat marker came on a third quarter pass play which covered 46 yards. The Pumas' alert defense picked off three Bearcat aeriels and one of them resulted directly in a touchdown as senior center Fran Mulcahey raced to pay dirt.

Murph Scores Twice

Les Klein opened the Puma scoring with a 50-yard gallop the first time he got his hands on the ball. Ed Labbe added the extra point. Toward the end of the half the Pumas began to move again, and this time rolled 68 yards in 13 plays. Fullback Mike Murphy bulled over for the score from the 2 yard line. Labbe converted and the score at halftime was St. Joe 14, St. Vincent's 0.

The Pumas wasted little time in padding their lead in the third quarter. They received the kickoff and kept right on going, this time for 66 yards in 10 plays. Murphy again drove over for the score, this time from the one. Labbe again booted the extra point.

Bearcat Drive Stopped

Later in the period the Bearcats came to life. A 15 yard penalty against St. Joe put the ball on the Puma 46, from which point Bearcat quarterback Bill Sullivan whipped the ball to end Phil Shalala, who gathered it in on the 20 and scampered across the goal line. The conversion was good and St. Joe led 21-7.

Early in the fourth quarter the Bearcats threatened again when they blocked a kick by Klein, and got as far as the Puma 19 where they were stopped on downs. In the closing minutes of play, Mulcahey intercepted a Sullivan aerial and sped 43 yards for a touchdown. Labbe's conversion concluded the afternoon's scoring.

Daigle, Klein Star in Win Over Ind. St.

by Tom Donahue

A well-balanced St. Joseph's eleven, led by halfbacks Les Klein and Norb Daigle, rolled to a 42-0 win over Indiana State in a game played at Terre Haute, Saturday, Oct. 19.

The Pumas scored their first touchdown with three minutes remaining in the first quarter. Ralph Tite plunged over from the one yard line to climax a 93-yard drive by the Pumas that covered ten plays. In the drive, fullback Keith Fingerhut carried the ball four times and picked up 42 yards.

Lead by 3 at Half

Fingerhut scored the second St. Joseph touchdown with an eighty-yard run up the middle. This climaxed an 80-yard march by the Pumas that covered nine plays.

Leading 14-0, St. Joe kicked off to State. After three attempts at the line, the Sycamores were forced to punt. Dick Hemingway, dropping back to punt on his own 32, fumbled the pass from center, recovered it, and St. Joe took over. Daigle dashed 26 yards to the State six, and scored from two yards out three plays later. This gave the Pumas a 21-0 lead at halftime.

Recover State Fumble

The Sycamores' defense stiffened in the third quarter and both teams exchanged punts twice before the Pumas got a drive going that netted them their fourth touchdown of the afternoon. Reserve quarterback Jim O'Brien gathered in a State punt and returned it to his own 39-yard line. A 15 yard penalty against State moved the ball to the Sycamore 46-yard line. Eight plays later, with the aid of another 15-yard walk-off against State, the Pumas scored their fourth touchdown of the afternoon. Klein went over from the five.

As the fourth quarter began, St. Joe recovered a Sycamore fumble on the State 20-yard line. This time it took only three plays before Daigle went over from five yards out.

Labbe Sets Record

Klein carried the brunt of the Pumas' final scoring drive as he picked up 57 yards in three carries.

Valpo Here for Homecoming; Pumas Face Ball State Next

by Joe Gregorich

On Saturday, Oct. 26, the title-bound St. Joseph football team will entertain arch-rival Valparaiso in the annual Homecoming game.

This year has been one of rebuilding for Valparaiso head coach Emory Bauer. The entire starting lineup of 1956 has passed out of the picture, and only 11 lettermen return from that squad. The relative successfulness of this year's Crusader team lies, therefore, on the performance of untried sophomores.

Valpo Sophs Click

And fortunately for Valparaiso, it is a couple of sophomores who have sparked this year's team. Ken Young, a highly-touted 200-pound quarterback and Dick Dierking, a lanky 170-pound halfback are doing their best to pace the Crusaders to a first-division finish.

Quarterback Young, who sparked last year's undefeated freshmen squad, is reputed to have all the assets a top signal-caller needs except varsity experience. Young is the third-ranking passer in the ICC with 258 yards in three games, including two TD tosses.

Cates on Injured List

Dierking, just another quarterback on last year's frosh team, thought he'd give the halfback position a try this year. He tried so hard he not only made Valpo's first team, but he now is the leading runner in the conference. Dierking has 284 yards to his credit in three ICC encounters, including three TD's.

The 1957 Crusader squad, however, is woefully lacking in depth. Whereas Puma mentor Bob Jauron can reach in his bag and pull out an able replacement for the injured Mike Murphy, the opponents cannot. The Valpo counterpart to the Puma fullback is, or was Mike Cates. The junior fullback, in his first ICC game, ripped off 173 yards in 32 carries for three touchdowns. The 32 carries represent an ICC record for one game, breaking Murphy's 1956 record of 31 against Valpo. Cates, however, paid his price the 32nd time, when he was forced out of the game with several badly bruised ribs. Cates hasn't played since then.

Ball State Next

Thus, while Valpo is not expected to ruin the Puma Homecoming, the St. Joe charges will be trying to equal or better last year's 35-0 whitewashing of the Crusaders.

The following Saturday, Nov. 2, St. Joe will travel to Muncie, Ind., to challenge the Ball State Cardinals.

Corazzi to Kindt

Cardinal coach Jim Freeman,

now in his second year as head coach, has 16 lettermen back from last year's team, which compiled a 4-4-1 record. Among the top returnees are halfbacks Tim Brown and Dave Kindt. But perhaps the most pleasant surprise has been sophomore quarterback Ed Corazzi from Fredricktown, Pa.

Just another quarterback in early season drills, the 180-pound Corazzi showed enough skill to win the signal-calling job from a senior letterman. After two ICC encounters, Corazzi boasts 14 completions in just 22 attempts for 339 yards and 3 touchdowns. His passing has clicked for over 24 yards per toss. His favorite target is 175-pound senior Kindt, who has amassed 112 yards in four catches, two of them for scores.

Brown Top Cardinal Back

Brown, 185-pound junior, is getting a chance to prove his capabilities after being hobbled with injuries in 1956. The speedster has shown he can run, too. Brown has collected 243 yards in two conference games, second only to Dierking of Valparaiso. Brown has toted the pigskin only 13 times for an average of 18.7 yards per carry.

Last year the Pumas, hungry for their first undisputed ICC crown, ended conference play with a 66-0 shellacking of Ball State.

Varsity Views

by Tom Donahue

This Saturday our Pumas play host to the Crusaders from Valparaiso university. It is always a good contest when our two schools get together and Saturday's game should prove no exception. In the past two years the Crusaders have been blanked by St. Joseph, 26-0 in 1955 and 35-0 last year. This year we hope that the Crusaders will again be denied the opportunity to score.

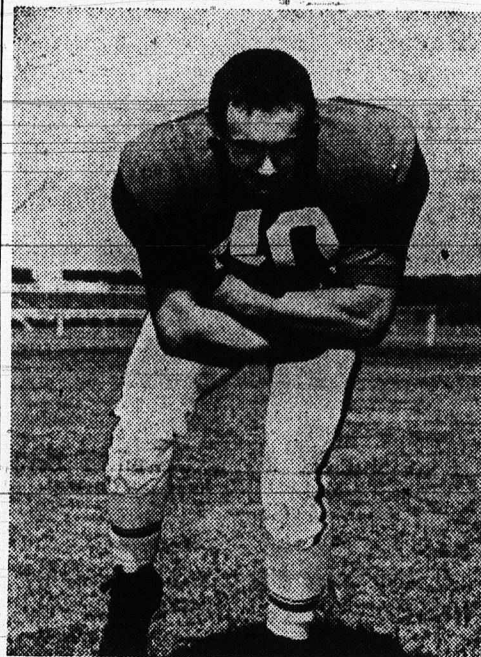

Valpo is an improved ball club over last year and our coaching staff and players by no means expect an easy time of it Saturday. On paper we should be favorites. We defeated DePauw and DePauw beat Valpo. We defeated Butler decisively and Butler got the nod over the Crusaders. But you can't use this kind of logic in predicting the outcome of a game that pits two schools that have the intense rivalry that St. Joe and Valparaiso have. They probably have been pointing for this one all year and they want to win it badly.

But we have plans of our own. Let's really get behind Willie and his fine staff Saturday and give the team the kind of support they deserve. You wouldn't want to give Valpo the opportunity of using that victory bell of theirs, would you? If there's any ding-donging to be done Saturday, we'll do it.

A lot of credit has to be given to our new sophomore end, Chuck Spielman. Chuck is a halfback by trade but wasn't playing too much this season because of the depth St. Joe has at both left and right halfback. So Chuck told coach Jauron that he'd like to try his hand at playing end. He was given the opportunity and has done a tremendous job for us. Nice going, Chuck.

You probably know by this time that fullback Mike Murphy and tackle Hank Alesia are out for the remainder of the season. Ray Shuhet has taken over the left tackle spot and is doing a great job. Keith Fingerhut is starting at fullback and he too is turning in a fine performance. It hurts to lose ballplayers of Murphy's and Alesia's calibre but it's nice to have guys that can step into their shoes and do a good job.

The movies of the St. Joe-St. Vincent game showed why the team has had a successful season to date. St. Vincent had a fine ball club that afternoon but we had a better one. And St. Joe beat them at their own game, hard, aggressive football. One of the eastern sportswriters referred to St. Joe as "The Oklahoma of small college football." I don't like to sound prejudiced, but I have to agree with him.

Mike Murphy

Mike Murphy Out for Year

Puma fullback Mike Murphy, who had scored seven touchdowns in five games, probably will be sidelined for the rest of the season as a result of his having suffered a shoulder separation in the 28-7 win over St. Vincent on Oct. 13 at Latrobe, Pa.

Murphy's injury came as he was being tackled late in the third quarter after he had scored two touchdowns to give the Pumas a 21-7 lead. Besides being the leading St. Joe scorer with 42 points, the 212-pound junior from Winchester, Mass., had been the workhorse of the SJ backfield with 59 carries.

Family Life Discussions Starts Series' Final Half

The Family Life Institute, which has been meeting on Tuesday nights at the Calumet Center and Wednesday nights on the college campus for four weeks, is now half-way through its present series. Four more weekly sessions remain.

Next week Ted and Helen Lownik will lead a discussion on school and teacher relations with parents.

Prayer in the Home

The week of Nov. 5 will find Dr. Robert Schmitt, a psychiatrist at the Child Guidance Clinic, Michigan City, Ind., discussing the problems of physical and mental health in the family.

Max and Anne Drazer of Gary will conduct the sessions on Nov. 12 and 13. These sessions will emphasize the importance of liturgy, prayer, and art in the home.

Fr. Scheuer Founder

The final discussions during the week of Nov. 19 will be conducted by the staff of the Family Life Institute. It will concern the practical incentives to recreate the sense of married life together.

The credit for the establishment of the Family Life Institute goes to Fr. Joseph Scheuer, C.P.P.S., associate professor of sociology. Fr. Scheuer succeeded in getting experts in the field of social relations to conduct the informal discussions.

KC's Support Institute

Bishop Grotka of Gary and Bishop Carberry of Lafayette have wholeheartedly endorsed the Family Life Institute for its work and have indicated their support of it in the future.

In addition, the National Council of Catholic Men, the National Council of Catholic Women, the Fourth Degree Assemblies and the Third Degree Councils of the Knights of Columbus in the Gary and Lafayette Dioceses in Indiana have been recommending and supporting the program to the fullest extent.

INTRAMURAL SCOREBOARD

by Mike Goldrick

The touch football season is moving into mid-season and still the Gamokes remain undefeated and league leaders. They have already met and conquered two of their closest rivals, the 7-7's of Noll, who have come back strong after their opening loss to the Gamokes, and the East Siefert Overtakers who gave them their biggest scare in two years.

League play has been dominated the past few weeks by two things: very closely played games, and an alarming number of forfeits. The latter has been a disappointment, to say the least. Most of the forfeits were due to the large number of flu cases on campus. If this has been the cause, the team captains can see the IM director about having them replayed. If your team is forfeiting for any other reason see the IM director and try to work something out. A continuance of this forfeiting could ruin the football season, especially true in the freshman league.

In close games in the upper class league, the Overtakers had the Gamokes down 7-6 with a little more than two minutes remaining, when the champs came back to score a touchdown and a safety to win going away. Two games were decided by first downs, both involving the 7-7's. The freshman league is sharply divided between the top four and the bottom four. The Dorm Seven Mistakes, Drexel Lions, Ad Mohawks, and the Gasper Hamburgs all close. The Seven Mistakes have looked quite impressive in compiling an unblemished record of five straight wins.

STANDINGS OCT. 18:

Freshman League		Upper Class League		W	L
Lions (Drexel)	4	0 Vets	4	1	1
Mohawks (Ad)	3	1 7-7's (Noll)	4	1	1
Hamburgs (Gasper)	3	1 Overtakers (E. Sief.)	5	2	2
Blockbusters (Gasper)	3	1 Stags (Bennett)	3	2	2
Dragons (Drexel)	2	2 Clowns (Merlini)	2	3	3
Adders (Ad)	1	2 Critters (Merlini)	2	4	4
Hot Dogs (Gasper)	1	4 Counts (Noll)	1	2	2
Tigers (Ad)	0	4 Cannonballs (Merlini)	1	2	2
		5 Knights (W. Sief.)	1	3	3
		Lightweights (Merlini)	1	4	4
		Crusaders (Merlini)	1	4	4

The inclement weather has delayed a major portion of other IM sports. Tom Freehill won the singles championship in horseshoes by swamping Bill Schuler 23-5, and 24-4. In Tennis the tourney is down to two, Art Drea, defending champ, and Tom Wall.

In golf there will be a match play-off between Pat Bray, Dick Etter, George Lux and Dick Nietzel. And for you golf enthusiasts come next spring the pro at the Curtis Creek Country Club will give free golf lessons if there are a sufficient number interested.

Parents Hear Fr. Otte Talk

"The Growth of St. Joe's from 1938 to 1956" was the title of a speech given by Fr. Joseph Otte, moderator of the Parents club, at the second parents' meeting of the year.

In the business portion of the meeting, tentative plans were made for a dinner-dance in November, a concert by the St. Joseph's Glee club in December, and a spring card party.

Mr. Martin A. Walsh and Mrs. Marie Nietzel, the new presidents of the Fathers' and Mothers' clubs, respectively, presided over the first meeting. Outgoing presidents Mr. Robert Crosse and Mrs. Emil Montemurro relinquished their gavels at the induction meeting.

Pumas Rout Indiana State

and took the ball over from the 14, his fifth TD of the season.

Ed Labbe ran his string of successive conversions to 14 as he split the up-rights six times. This set a new ICC record for most points-after-touchdown in a single game.

The Pumas overwhelmed their opponents statistically. They ran up a total of 498 total yards to State's 37, and registered 25 first downs to the Sycamores' five. Probably even more significant is the fact that the Pumas were forced to punt only once in the entire ball game, whereas State had to boot out of trouble ten times.
